

Many things have to be learnt Some things have to be experienced

Theoretical knowledge is only worth half as much without practical experience. Therefore Audi China offers the ACEMpro (Audi China Expert & Management Program) for China committed individuals on technical and executing levels.

During this Traineeship program you have a number of different opportunities to gain valuable insights into the processes and operations of an international car company. Having completed this program successfully paves the way to for a long and prosperous career with Audi (China) Enterprise Management Co., Ltd. in China.

The following table provides you with an overview of the two branches of ACEMpro – the Junior and Senior program which target different groups of potential candidates.

If you think your profile matches with our requirements and are willing to face new challenges on your career path we are glad to receiving your application and getting to know you. Your Link to us:
